A COLLECTOR'S STORY

I Am a Carnival Glass Addict

I am 67 years young and I am a collector of glass since the '70s. I am Dorothy Morgan, live in Texas and am married to a wonderful man, Emmett. (Now that "wonderful" is sometimes blurred because of our strong personalities!)

When I taught school in the '70s and '80s, I started collecting Depression Glass because that was the only thing I could afford. Carnival Glass was fairly abundant, but it was more expensive. Plus, I did not know a thing about it. So I stayed away from it.

My memory will always be of a great antique shop we had in Brenham in those years that had punch bowls, aqua opal pieces and red pieces of carnival glass. If I only knew what I know today!!!!!!

I married Emmett in 1987 and, of course, he did good political supporter of mine, so he felt he had the right to tell me what I was doing wrong. He told me to stop collecting Depression Glass and start collecting Carnival Glass, because there was a market for resale and many conventions and auctions to attend where I would meet interesting people.

Of course Emmett asked me what was Carnival Glass. I tried to explain and eventually got frustrated with him and said I had to show you. So off we go on an antiquing trip in November 1994. We stopped in Texarkana, Texas, where we found many pieces of Carnival Glass. We eventually bought a vase which we thought was April Showers but later found out it was called Knotted Beads. We were fortunate to have two Carnival mentors—Richard Jarnig and Preston Wells from San Antonio. Richard taught us about the different base glass colors, and Preston taught us about great iridescence. Unfortunately, Richard died so young from an aneurism.

Today we would not buy this kind of piece of Knotted Beads, but to us it is a special piece of glass because this is our first piece. I will have to say that carnival collecting helped our marriage—except when Emmett buys something without talking to me!!!!!!!!!!!!!! I was the Mayor of Brenham, and County Judge of Washington County, so when I got home from work, talking about Carnival Glass helped me relax. Plus, looking at the beautiful glass (along with a glass of wine or a martini!) was all I needed to forget the troubles of the day!!!!

Of course, like many collectors, we bought pieces that maybe we should not have bought, but at the time they were so special to us. We were antiquing in Springfield, Ohio, for the Fall Antique Extravaganza when someone told us about not know a thing about antique furniture and antique glass; but because he loved me so much, he put up with it in the house!!!!!!

I was still collecting Depression Glass, but that soon changed when we attended a July 4th party in 1994 where Richard Jarnig was also attending. He was a

by Bob Grissom

This is a brief outline of the activities that are being planned for your enjoyment as you attend the HOACGA convention. It is our hope that you will be able to join your collector friends. We know it will add to your carnival glass experience.

A SCHEDULE OF EVENTS and REGISTRATION FORM are included in this Newsletter.

CONVENTION RAFFLE: This year we are offering three Raffle prizes of $500 each. You could possibly win all three. You do not have to be present to win. See the convention registration form, included in this newsletter, for entering the raffle.

SPECIAL DISPLAY: The display will be "Millersburg Carnival Glass." Gary Heavin, HOACGA vice president, will present the display talk. (Randy and Bo Jones had consented to give the talk, a situation has occurred that will prevent them from being at the convention).

Please take a good look at your glass and make a list of the "Millersburg" that you would be willing to bring for the educational benefit of those attending the convention. Send your list to Bob Grissom, email bgrsm31@comcast.net. You will be notified later of the pieces to bring for the display. The Millersburg glass will be on display Thursday afternoon through Friday until 3:30 p.m. The talk by Gary Heavin will be Friday morning at 10:30 a.m.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM: Judy Maxwell, Past President of the Southern California Carnival Glass Club will present an educational program with the title "Trifecta". This should be an outstanding talk and presentation of "Emerald Green". Judy always presents some very outstanding carnival glass and this will be no exception.

CONTEMPORARY CARNIVAL GLASS AUCTION: After the educational program presentation, cake and coffee will be served, also about sixty (60) pieces of contemporary carnival glass will be auctioned. Jim Seeck will conduct the auction. The glass is from the collections of Larry Thorne and Daryl Strohm (a complete listing will be available at the convention).

BANQUET SPEAKER: We are pleased to have Heidi Ritterbush, President of the Southern California Carnival Glass Club, as our banquet speaker, the theme of her talk will be "The Bold & Beautiful". Heidi is known for only buying pieces with outstanding iridescence, she always gives an informative talk, you will enjoy her presentation. The room display winners will be announced, several special whimsies will be auctioned. A drawing for one of the raffle items will be drawn. A detailed schedule of events and a registration form will be available in the January Newsletter.

JOHN & LUCILE BRITT AWARD: This award will be presented to DON AND BARBARA CHAMBERLAIN of Manchester, Iowa at the Luncheon on Friday. We have all benefited from Don's and Barbara's altruistic work through the years. They have written articles for many clubs' newsletters. Barbara is a member of the International Carnival Glass Association Board of Directors, she has served as treasurer and is presently the newsletter editor of "The Carnival Pump."

SPECIAL RECOGNITION AWARD: A special award will be presented to a deserving collector, name to be announced at the time of the award, Friday Luncheon.

ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING: The annual Business Meeting will be held Friday at 2:00 p.m., or immediately following the Britt Award Luncheon. Discussion of club activities. Election of officers include Vice-President, Treasurer, and Bulletin Secretary.

AUCTION: The collections of Beverly Franzen and Tom and Ann Bumpass will be auctioned on Saturday by the Seeck Auction Company. Viewing of the glass will be Friday evening. Pie and Coffee will be served after the viewing.

SILENT AUCTION: We welcome donations for the Silent Auction. Please call Virgil Wiebe – 316-619-5301 or email virgilwiebe@gmail.com He will be in Room 201. Silent Auction will end at 4:00 p.m. Saturday (after the auction).

Up for well-deserved honors

The recipients of the 2014 John and Lucile Britt Award are Don and Barb Chamberlain. They will be honored at the John and Lucile Britt Award Luncheon.

Towering Display

Timmy Greene's stunning ice Tree Trunks received top honors in last year's Room Display Contest. The displays let people enjoy individual collections and meet others as you view.

Judy Maxwell, at right, brings her knowledge of Emerald Green Carnival Glass to the 2014 HOACGA Convention. The special presenter is the past president of the Southern California Carnival Glass Club. With her is Heidi Ritterbush, current SCCGC president and the 2014 Banquet speaker. Heidi specializes in collecting glass with outstanding iridescence.

Advance Notice

Mark your calendar for a special September HOACGA event in conjunction with an auction of a collection that ranks among the top in the country.

I guess you can't keep the news of an outstanding Carnival Glass Auction a secret very long. We were trying to keep the identity of the person's auction unknown until after the 2014 HOACGA convention auction, but it did not happen. In case you are not aware, the auction will be that of Jackie Poucher's Carnival Glass.

Here are the dates: Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 11 to 13, 2014. It will be at the Embassy Suites Hotel, Kansas City, MO, the same hotel as the HOACGA Convention. Reservations are 816-891-7788 with the room rate the same as the convention rate of $115 a day.

Please note—you do not have to be a member of HOACGA to arrive on Thursday and enjoy all the activities.

We know that many collectors will be coming to the auction, so rather than making the tiring trip on a Friday, HOACGA invites you to come in on a Thursday. This will give you a chance to have a relaxing evening and chance to visit with friends and also enjoy the hotel's happy hour.

We have scheduled some non-carnival entertainment for your enjoyment on Thursday evening (something we know you will enjoy). This will give you a chance to spend a leisurely evening, being entertained and visiting with carnival glass friends. Then on Friday we will have an educational carnival glass talk and on to the auction preview on Friday evening, and ready for the auction on Saturday.

Tom Mordini and the Mordini Price Guide.

I said, "Who is Tom Mordini and what is this price guide and what does he know about carnival glass?!!!" The only book we had was the Edwards & Carwile encyclopedia. Many dollars later, beautiful glass and a great friendship, I now know who Tom Mordini is. We had the ability to buy some wonderful pieces which we eventually sold at HOACGA in 2011.

During this time of collecting, we met so many people that eventually became our best friends. I would start naming these friends, but I know I would forget someone. But our friends know they are our friends, so you know your name would be listed here. These friends tested the friendship when they bid against us. But if friends never would bid against each other, it would tick the auctioneer off.

Well, enough of words; it is time to show you pictures of our first piece and some of my very favorite pieces. Some I cannot show you because they are now in other homes because of our auction. But Emmett and I will continue to collect, and today we have another good collection. We wanted to slow down, but this Carnival Glass collecting is a disease that is very difficult to eliminate. I will also show you pictures of Flow Blue and Majolica which I also love collecting and cannot say "no" to when it is a unique piece. Once a collector of glass, always a collector. But most of all, Emmett and I will always be carnival glass addicts!!!!!! ■

Harvest Poppy Compote

■ by Bob Grissom

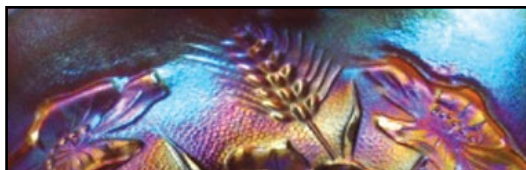

Don & Barbara Chamberlain gave an educational talk at the Air Capital Carnival Glass Club convention in October 2013. In the talk Barbara displayed an amethyst Harvest Poppy compote, she stated that the maker is unknown, although it is thought to be Northwood. The pattern is identified in Marion Hartungs book 4, page 51 and the maker is listed as unknown. Book 4 was printed in 1963, so the pattern has been known for several years. A photo of the compote is shown in the HOACGA Notebook section on compotes and the maker is identified as Northwood. Dave Doty's website, ddoty.com, also lists it as being a Northwood item.

The Harvest Poppy pattern is seldom seen and is not readily recognizable because it only appears on a compote. The pattern is a combination of Poppies and Wheat, with a stippled background. The pattern repeats two times and covers the inside surface of the compote. Each half of the pattern consists of six poppies and two wheat heads. The pattern is terminated on the inside bottom with three concentric rings. The outside surface of the bowl, stem and base is plain and smooth,

As far as I know, all of the compotes are the same shape, flared with six ruffles; any other shape would be considered a whimsey (rarity). The compote is five inches tall at the maximum height of the ruffle and is six inches across the widest part of the ruffle. The compotes are known in amethyst, blue, green & marigold. Blue is probably the most scarce, this would give some clue that it may be an item that was made by Northwood. They are not often seen and no marked ones have been reported.

The first time I remember seeing a "Harvest Poppy" compote was at an auction. The compote was blue

(pictured) with outstanding iridescence. I did not know anything about this pattern but this particular compote was a very nice piece of carnival glass. Also, Mickey Reichel was bidding on it, so I thought that since Mickey was bidding it was a good piece and a good buy. I don't think Mickey has overpaid for very many pieces of carnival glass. I finally won the bid. Since then I have obtained all of the other known colors—amethyst, green and marigold.

The pattern is not identified in the Harry Northwood, the Wheeling Years 1901 – 1925 by William Heacock, James Measell and Barry Wiggins, nor the Northwood Carnival Glass 1908 – 1926 by Carl O. Burns or The Collector's guide to Northwood's Carnival Glass by Carl O. Burns. I could not find it listed in D&D Fry's Carnivalglass101 website. ■

A deep bowl with six ruffles distinguishes the compote attributed to the Northwood company.

President's Corner

As I start to compose this message, it is only 19 days 'till Dorothy and I head to Dallas for our club's 2014 convention. Your board members and committee members have done a wonderful job getting ready for our members to have a wonderful time in Dallas, and we look forward to visiting with you and having fun. Be sure to pack your Show & Tell pieces, your Gift Exchange wrapped presents, and your donated items for the Silent Auction.

If anyone needs to make a last-minute hotel reservation, please call me no later than March 17 as we have several additional rooms reserved at the convention rate of $115 per night which includes breakfast each morning.

For those members that cannot attend our convention, your club is starting a new awareness program of "Why be a member of a Carnival Glass organization?". This is a takeoff of a joint program by TCGC and HOACGA that began in the fourth quarter of 2013. The joint program furnishes tri-fold brochures to our carnival auctioneers to insert in shipments to absentee bidders who are not known members of any club. The new TCGC program needs the help and involvement of our members to distribute our tri-fold membership brochures, 8.5" x 3.625", to antique malls and shops in your geographic area. This will be an ongoing program for at least the next two years, and your club needs your help and involvement. Membership brochures can be picked up at the convention in Dallas, or contact me either by phone or email so we can provide you with the new brochures: 713-857-2966 or ecmorgan@alpha1.net.

See you in Dallas March 19-22!

Silent Auction offers a chance to buy...and support

Sam & Walt Robinson

It is once again time to start thinking about gathering items for the annual Texas Carnival Glass Club Silent Auction. We are all looking forward to another fun, friendly, informative, and rewarding Texas convention in Dallas. One of the fun things we do each year is conduct a Silent Auction. Fairly simple event

Coordinators Walt & Sam Robinson

— you bring and donate items to be sold; attendees bid on the items over two or three days; auction closes Friday afternoon; and you take home some treasures for yourself, friends or family. Proceeds from the annual Silent Auction assist the club in providing Hospitality Room supplies and in keeping the cost of the annual Banquet Dinner to a minimum. It is fun, friendly, and good for the club.

The 2013 auction was quite a success. We had the good fortune to have several items that stirred the competitive juices of our bidders. And many bidders walked off with some very nice items at very little cost. A good time was had by all.

So, with the 2014 TCGC Silent

Auction in mind, maybe this is a good time to start gathering items to donate. A nice piece of glass, a Christmas gift that isn't going to work for you, treasured books, a little downsizing of your collectibles, a bottle of wine, a challenging puzzle ..... whatever, we are open to just about anything you are willing to contribute.

Should you have questions or would simply like to discuss something regarding the Silent Auction, please contact us at waltrobt@sbcbglobal.net or at 512-292-1008.

Looking forward to seeing you in Dallas,

—Walt Robinson

White Elephant: EXCHANGE OR STEAL? Co-Coordinators Sandy & Bob Sage

A Fishing Trip

Here's a game to test your pattern knowledge. Phil and Mary Leddy shared a talk they gave to the Tampa Bay Carnival Glass Club. In it, they told a story using Carnival Glass patterns. Your job is to read this passage, find and underline the 29 different patterns included. We've given you ten visual clues. If you can identify those photos, you'll find them in the story. Answers on Page 20.

"Many go fishing all their lives without knowing that it is not fish they are after."

—Henry David Thoreau

We are always going fishing for that elusive piece of carnival glass, the "big fish" before it gets away. Come on, grab your fishin' pole and meet me at the fishin' hole. We're going on a Fishing Trip!

Sometimes we think fishing is better on the other side so we "tackle the waves" to go where the big fish are.

At the seacoast, or even a sylvan lake, there are lots of frothy waves, sea foam, algae and sea weed.

There could be a forest ranger, so we take our fishing licenses when we tackle the waves to catch the big fish. We were glad, once, on a lake when a ranger was handy on a stormy waves kind of a day. Our boat, the "Mighty Nautilus," drifted into a patch of pond lilies, entangling our propeller in the bending stems that held the sweet blooms and the ranger had to chop us out. We left the floating blossoms, the water lilies and cattails looking like a tornado had gone through.

At the serene sea, we like to watch the playing otters, the diving dolphins and feed the pelicans and seagulls, including the Laughing Gull. And we might see a nesting Royal Tern, or a soaring Kingfisher or a sleeping Masked Booby, if we are lucky.

Sometimes on a fishing trip we stay in a quaint, rustic little countryside cottage. We play a game of checkers on an old chessboard, play a game of hearts, do a puzzle on the iPad, or check the on-line Carnival Glass auctions for our favorite pattern, April Fools.

We may not catch fish but what a great way to pass the day!

Just imagine, as we leave the Country Kitchen Restaurant and walk down the garden path of a local park that once was a pioneer farm homestead. The place once yielded golden apples, corn wreaths and flowering dill, sold at the nearby Harlock's Fine Food Emporium.

We could meander through the rest of the old estate that includes a peony patch, rose garden, and a lilac arbor.

In the fall, we stroll through the peaceful oak and evergreen grove where you might find autumn acorns, pine boughs, acorn burrs, the blazing burning bush, a fircone, a downy milkweed and, of course, a pinecone or two. But these still don't compare to the floral bliss of a sweet nosegay, a single flower, or a bouquet of open roses held together with a ribbon tie forming a red graceful bow. Nor can they hold up to the old fashioned joy of a box of Davidson's Society Chocolates, or Dreyfuss Sweet Treats, for my lady love.

No marsh to nestle in, but these Nesting Swans are at home

By Steve Hazlett

Green, marigold and amethyst ruffled Nesting Swan bowls.

One of the better known designs in carnival glass, Nesting Swan, is a serene and naturalistic pattern created by John Fenton and the Millersburg Glass Company.

This pattern I find to be exquisite in detail and workmanship of the glass. It's a favorite of mine, as I have three different examples --- I have green, amethyst and one I will call pastel marigold. All are in the ten inch ruffle shape. They are also available in a candy ribbon edge and an ice cream shape. There are also examples of square and tri cornered shaped bowls, as well as a few round (unshaped, just as they came out of the mould) bowls.

A deep, eight-inch round bowl is known as an extremely rare version.

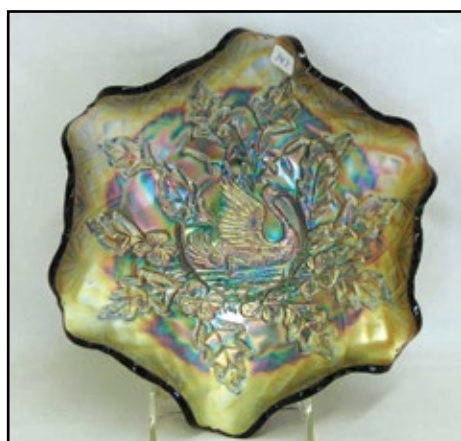

Swans were popular symbols of endless love and used in mythologies and music.

Three more rare shapes are a green spittoon whimsy, a green ten-inch plate, and a marigold rose bowl. As for rare colors, there are a very few vaseline and blue examples known. These pieces also come with a satin finish or a fine Radium finish. The bowls I own all have Radium finish.

The exterior pattern is Diamond and Fan, which blends well with the overall composition of the bowl. Diamond and Fan is a combination of fans that reverse each other, with prisms of diamonds. On the Marie, there is a star formed from the prisms of diamonds with small fans surrounding the top of the star.

The interior pattern consists of having a graceful Swan sitting on a nest of reeds. It is surrounded by a combination of blossoms, cattails and leaves. All of which have a stippled effect, that provides a contrast and makes the scene stand out. I like the balance of the interior scene combined with the secondary exterior pattern. The color, finish and workmanship are quite excellent. The Nesting Swan is one of carnival glasses works of art. ■

Happenings from the past

Memories from early HOACGA bulletins

■ By Bob Grissom

The Banquet speaker for the convention were Jack and Mary Adams. They were one of the original nine collectors that started HOACGA.

The Harnishes reported finding a marigold "Goddess of Athena" epergne. It was the third one known.

The Souvenir Committee reported that the Smith Glass Company had been contacted about making the 1977 "Good Luck Hatpin Holder" and a "Hatpin."

The Wishard auction was held in Louisville, Ky. The auction was conducted by the Woody Auction Company and it took three nights and two days to sell all of the glass. Some pieces and prices were: Green Farmyard bowl—$7,500, amethyst Peoples vase—$5,900, Grape and Cable cuspidor—$7,000, amethyst Thistle punch bowl—$5,800, Persian Garden chop plate—$4,000.

John Woody sold part of the Ed Gaida collection in St. Louis. An amethyst Morning Glory water pitcher sold for $6,300.

June – Two of the new members that were welcomed to HOACGA were Floyd and Cecile Whitley of Houston, Texas. Bill Crawl also was welcomed as a new member of the club.

Jack Wilson reported finding two stemmed Rosalind compotes. They have not been previously listed. One is amethyst and is about 6 inches tall and sits on a completely round base. The other one is marigold and is about 9.5 inches tall and sits on an eight-sided base.

The Woody Auction Co. held the Hufford auction on June 29, in Freemont, IL. One of the featured pieces was the aqua opal Peacock at the Fountain fruit bowl, it sold for $2,550. Another good piece was the Millersburg Hobstar and Feather vase. When bidding stopped at only $1,400, the owners pulled it from the sale. At that point the auction was stopped. About 30% of the glass did not sell.

Sherman Hand reported passing up buying the green "Farmyard" bowl for $500. He bought the purple one for $750 because he liked it better. He reported that Liberace also did not like the green bowl and he, too, passed it up because he did not like green.

Believed of European origin, the Goddess of Athena marigold example, at far left, is from the Blair collection. The green example sold for $1,600 in 2009.

Bargain price announced on HOACGA notebook sections

by Bob Grissom

With surplus copies abundant, the HOACGA major research notebook is being sold for a bargain $150, or approximately half-price from its original price.

HOACGA started the Pattern Notebook in 1979 with the first section on Punch Sets. We did not retain the ability to reproduce that section, so when we sold all of the copies, it was revised, updated, and reprinted in 1995. So the first section for the Notebook is now Mugs.

When this project started we were printing 1000 copies of each section and in some cases we had to have some sections reprinted. This Notebook is and has been a very good source of information to the Carnival Glass collector and is still used by many.

Over the past 30 plus years we have accumulated surplus copies of these sections. As information technology has changed and much more information has been made available, printed matter is no longer the way many collectors prefer to get their information.

We are now faced with the fact that we have several hundred pounds of paper that is being stored with limited future need. So it is time to disperse this information.

HOACGA is offering the complete Notebook, 28 sections identifying more than 1800 pieces, each with a colored photo, for $150. The original Notebook binders are not available, you will get a plain binder. We will retain copies of each of the Notebook sections, for any future needs. If you have a Notebook and are missing some sections and want to complete yours, you may purchase individual sections for half price. Copies of each section will be available at the 2014 convention.

If you will not be at the convention and need some sections to complete your notebook (include $1.50 postage for each section ordered), or you may order a complete Notebook (send $15.00 postage). Send your order to the Treasurer, Jerry Curtis. A listing of the different sections and an order form are included in this newsletter.
