Both our Texas and HOACGA conventions have finalized their plans for 2023:

Brenham, Texas
March 9th thru 11th
at the fairgrounds

Kansas City, Missouri
April 12th thru 15th
at the Embassy Suites

(Note: to get the necessary banquet space, HOACGA had to adjust their 2023 dates )

President's Corner

By Emmett Morgan

Our 2022 convention was held at the Washington County Expo Center March 10–12 in Brenham. When our Dallas hotel closed their doors in early January, it was a total shock. Your Board members worked quickly and diligently, first to find a facility to host our convention and second a hotel for our attendees. In the back of my mind, I wondered:

Will our members mind driving a few miles to the Expo Center from the hotel?

Will our members enjoy Room Displays, For Sale glass, Auction glass, lots of tables and chairs to visit with their friends, Seminars, Banquet, lunch, and dinners all in the same large room?

During our Business Meeting on Friday afternoon, we asked members for a show of hands (hold 'em high for the count) if they would like to return to the Expo Center in 2023. The vote was unanimous. Dorothy and I want to thank the many people who made our convention successful and all the helpers who helped set up and store the tables (48) and chairs. You worked so hard to clean the room that our club was refunded the $300 cleaning fee.

We will be returning to the Expo Center for our 2023 convention March 9–11 in Brenham, TX. Bob Sage has secured 30 rooms at the Hampton Inn & Suites (newer) in Brenham, TX.

Dorothy and I are looking forward to seeing many of our members at our July 2 meeting hosted by Tony and Mary Jo DeMichael, 15105 Fleet Hill Road, Aledo, TX. Details are in this issue.

Cale Wilcox, David Kastor, Dorothy, and I had a wonderful time at the HOACGA convention last week. Dorothy did a splendid job sharing and speaking at their Luncheon Banquet, and it was fun to share stories. The Peoples Vase that was sold at the auction stayed in Texas! In fact, on our trip home, David carried it on his lap and in the same box when the Whitley's owned it. The HOACGA auction total was over $525,000.

Texas Carnival Glass Club Summer Meeting Saturday, July 2, 2022

Hosted by: Tony and Mary Jo DeMichael
15105 Fleet Hill Road
Aledo, Texas 76008

Our TCGC summer meeting will be held at the home of Mary Jo and Tony DeMichael on Saturday, July 2.

Mary Jo and Tony began collecting Carnival Glass in 1999 and enjoy the hobby together, with a love for both classic and contemporary Carnival Glass. Mary Jo collects Australian Crown Crystal, Dorothy Taylor Encore, peacock vases, and Fenton Happy Cats among other patterns. Tony likes vases of all kinds. Both collect glass made for Gary Levi by the various companies that made glass for Gary and Dodie. They have one of the largest collections of Levay glass.

They live at 15105 Fleet Hill Rd, Aledo, Texas, in the Morningstar Addition, approximately 1.4 miles north of I-20 off FM 3325. Mary Jo and Tony welcome everyone to an open house beginning at 10 am. Lunch will follow at noon with the business meeting and Show and Tell thereafter. They look forward to seeing everyone in July. Don't forget to bring your recent finds or auction wins for Show and Tell!

There is ample parking directly across from their home in the Event Center parking lot. Lunch, the TCGC business meeting, and Show and Tell will occur in the Event Center. The Event Center is within walking distance of their house.

Schedule of Events:

10:00 am – Mary Jo and Tony DeMichael Open House
12:00 pm – Lunch
1:30 pm – Business Meeting and Show and Tell in the Event Center

For meal planning PLEASE RSVP to Tony and Mary Jo let them know you will attend.

(On the Hunt with Corky)

Kneeling Down
By Corky Cotten

How many times have you been in a shop and forgot to look up or kneel down? If you are like me, with old age bones, kneeling down can be an ordeal and even more of an ordeal trying to get back up.

Around six years back I found four shops in a small town I had never visited before. I spent about 30 minutes in an old house converted to a shop, and all I spotted were three very common pieces... not very interesting. They were all in the same area belonging to the same vendor.

I had given up and turned to exit the shop. Then it dawned on me I had not looked down and given the lower shelves a good viewing. I knelt down on all fours and noticed nothing on the bottom two shelves. The shelves were deep and close together. However, as I was raising back up, I spotted, through a vertical display of China teacups and some large vases, a bowl with a crimped edge sitting against the wall on a recessed half-shelf. I could not make out the pattern or maker as the shelf above was maybe 1/2" higher than the bowl plus it was in the shadows. With great care I moved the China teacups out of the way and gingerly slid the bowl out of its hiding spot.

To my surprise and delight I am holding an extremely dirty amethyst Millersburg Whirling Leaves tri-corner crimped-edge bowl. The price could not be beat which made me suspect either it had been there for decades, or something was wrong with it. After a minor cleaning with my shirt tail and a little spittle, 10-15 minutes of inspection revealed no damage.

As it often happens when hunting, I find myself getting complacent and not looking in the hard to see areas. Maybe you are this way also? Who wants to kneel down unless they have to? However, it is worth the effort as occasionally you might find that piece that puts a smile on your face.

So don't forget to look high and low and to the backside of all shelves while hunting.

This year at the ACGA Convention we will be selling the stellar collection of the late Larry & Mary Helen Yung. To say this is an absolute honor to be selling this collection for the family would be an understatement. The Yung family has been a part of ACGA for decades and we are pleased to bring their first auction to Berlin Ohio to be auctioned at the ACGA convention in 2022.

Burns Auction Service will provide an auction of stretch glass on Friday, August 13, 2022.

HOACGA President's Letter - Gary Sullivan

The cartoon by Don Moore on the last page says it all. We are pooped. March and April saw two great conventions go into the books. Steve and I were asked to present at the Texas convention. The day after we made our reservations for the Sonesta Hotel in Dallas, we get a call from the Sages saying that the hotel is closed effective immediately. Only weeks later we were all set to attend the convention in Brenham TX. Brenham is located south of Dallas, so it changed our travel plans which meant we needed to change our hotels along the route as it was a three day / 2 night trip from Connecticut to Brenham. So much for being proactive.

Well, we got to the Texas convention and what a time we had; food, friends and glass makes for a great time. A great success of a convention in a new type of venue that I think may set the standard for other conventions as the price of hotel banquet facilities rise.

HOACGA then came up so fast. Being my first convention, I was a little nervous but I had made lists of things to do. I make a lot of lists. And we seemed to be as prepared as possible. There were a couple of fire drills along the way, but wow what a great time. About 20 room displays, rooms with glass for sale, presentations by Gary Senkar on Imperial Jewels and Emmet and Dorothy Morgan on their collections, a Table Set Display Room, a contemporary auction and a Saturday classic era auction that brought in about $530,000 meant that there was a lot of great glass to see. Is there such a thing as glass overload?

Having to travel several days to attend both conventions showed us how the staffing shortage is affecting businesses across the U.S. It seemed that every time we stopped to grab some food, only the drive thru was opened and the dining room closed. "Help Wanted All Shifts" was a sign we saw along the whole trip. The hotel asked me to have the tables and chairs set up one way for the entire convention as they did not have the staff to make changes once it was set up. The hotel restaurant was open but not for lunch and dinner was a limited menu. The free breakfast at the hotel was open which was nice.

I can't begin to thank everyone but I will try. Kathi and Galen Johnson, Tony and Mary Jo DeMichael, Chase Marquis, Dave Noyes and Sue Menard, Steve Lindquist, Wally McDaniel and Maxine Burkhardt for setting up risers. A thank you to our presenters, Gary Senkar and Emmett and Dorothy for traveling to HOACGA with their personal collections to share with us. To Wally and Maxine for bringing all those table sets. To Galen Johnson, our tech guy, for set up and running our AV equipment, And to Jim and Jan Seeck and all their crew for assisting in the table set display and providing us with two great auctions. To everyone who set up a room display or sold glass. To Steve, Chase and Barb Chamberlain for being our Room Display judges. And to everyone who attended. It doesn't happen without all of you.

Oh and we did have a business meeting. I am excited to report that myself, Kathi Johnson and Tony DeMichael were all re-elected to their offices and that Chase Marquis accepted the nomination to be Vice President and that Steve Lindquist accepted the nomination to be Newsletter Editor. With a full Board of Directors we will be ready to bring HOACGA 2023. Thanks again!!

DATES for HOACGA 2023

April 12th thru the 15th

To get the banquet rooms that we need to host a great 2023 convention and auction at the Embassy Suites we had to move our dates to April 12-15 one week early than expected.

HOACGA's Thursday evening educational seminar was done by Gary Senkar on Imperial Jewels. And Friday's luncheon presentation was by the Morgans.

After solving a small technical issue of connecting a laptop to a projector with the help of Galen Johnson, a phone call to Brian Foster and a quick trip to Best Buy, Gary gave a great and informative presentation on Imperial Jewels. After the presentation, attendees crowded around Gary with a multitude of questions.

Dorothy and Emmett Morgan provided a visual delight with their luncheon presentation. They explained how and why they bought and sold this beautiful glass giving them their collection today. A special thanks to their roadies, Cale and David.

Table Set Display Room

On Friday, April 22nd, HOACGA presented a Table Set display and talk. 54 feet of display risers with four levels holding 89 complete U.S. made classic era table sets. The talk covered the 37 patterns from Cambridge, Dugan, Imperial, Millersburg, Northwood and US Glass. In addition to carnival glass, sets also found in crystal with various treatments and other non-carnival were also shown.

nette Shaffer for putting their table sets into the display room and helping to set it up and take it down.
And especially to Wally McDaniel and Maxine Burkhardt for taking on the table set display room and coordinating every aspect of it.

HOACGA Auction of the Late Carroll Cook and Robert Grissom Collections

The HOACGA Auction - It was great to be back to preview auction glass at the HOACGA convention. I think we all shared the joy of those dancing around a People's Vase as we enjoyed each others company and the excitement of in-person bidding. And the Seecks did not disappoint. The auction glass of the late Carroll Cook and Robert Grissom was a sight to behold. I know most of us went home with a piece or two to add to our collections.

Pattern Names by Kathi Johnson

This is just a cute little story with a logical twist.

Just for fun and entertainment we occasionally browse Facebook Marketplace (a selling platform – think like garage sale). I say entertainment, because the people selling glass on here are usually just cleaning out a box they found that Grandma or Mom left, so the seller's knowledge is usually minimal or non-existent.

Not too long ago I was searching for Carnival (which brings up a multitude of things, most of them NOT Carnival Glass or, if they are, usually '60s Revival Carnival Glass). There was a very nice necklace made from a marigold piece of Carnival Glass!

I'm guessing it was made from a broken bowl or tumbler. The seller was in Michigan (not too far away, but definitely not close). The listing read "Vintage Iridescent Glass Palm Tree Necklace," and the description read "Vintage iridescent carnival glass oval necklace with a potted palm plant." (Circa 70s).

I was happy with the price they were asking, and I knew that it was made from the Peacock at the Fountain pattern. So, I messaged the seller, asking if she would sell just the necklace and not the potted palm plant (can't imagine what shipping would cost for that!).

She came back with "there isn't a plant included – I'm confused on that." And that's when I read the listing again AND looked at the picture – and realized that the portion of the pattern included in the necklace looks just like a 'potted palm.' Or it certainly would to someone who wasn't familiar with the Peacock at the Fountain pattern (or the actual era for the pattern)!

I completed the transaction, received it, and am very, very happy with my 'Peacock at the Fountain aka Potted Palm' necklace.

Broken Arches by Imperial

An Imperial pattern that is found on the exterior of punch bowls, bases and matching punch cups. The pattern is easy to remember because the arches are divided into small sections much like stones in an arched doorway. Known only in marigold and purple. Most tops are round like the one on the left but a few are ruffled. The tops come with one of four interiors; either a blank unpatterned interior or with one of three unique interior patterns:

- 1) To the right is an example of a blank interior
- 2) Below, left, has concentric circles that start at the bottom of the bowl and end about half way up. These concentric circles are not stippled.
- 3) Below, center, has the same unstippled concentric circles but has the addition of vertical ribs starting where the concentric circles end and reaching to the top of the sawtooth rim.
- 4) Below, right, is the same as the third interior pattern, but every other concentric ring is stippled.

It may have been that the plunger used to impart the interior pattern was redesigned a couple of times to give the interior more detail.

Apple and Pear Intaglio, Cherry Intaglio, Strawberry Intaglio and Thistle Intaglio - Northwood

The Apple and Pear Intaglio, Cherry Intaglio, Strawberry Intaglio and the Thistle Intaglio patterns each have the design cut into the exterior of the bowl--which is very thick glass. The iridescence is on the outside, not the inside, of these 9 3/4 inch marigold bowls. These were made by Northwood using molds that previously were used to make Goofus Glass where the exterior fruit were painted reds, greens and gold. These molds were rushed into Carnival production when Carnival started to become popular. Production must have been limited as Northwood soon made new molds of new patterns to use in Carnival production.

The Apple and Pear is probably found most often followed by the Strawberry. The Cherry is seldom found and only one of the Thistle Intaglio bowls is known. Small individual berry bowls are also found. These five inch bowls have been found in the Apple and Pear, Cherry and the Strawberry patterns. Below are berry sets for Apple and Pear and for Cherry. No small bowls are known in the Thistle pattern.

“Intaglio”

SOME very choice pieces are shown here, but like the "Verre D'or" we have to depend on description as it is impossible to show the designs and coloring on plates.

We do not show quite all of the pieces contained in the Assortment as the plate is too small. The glass is the very best fire polished Crystal and the designs graceful and artistic. The large dishes at the top of the plate are very heavy and the design is cut in very deep on the underside, then treated in color and gold effects. The edge of the dishes are fired Bright Gold and we particularly recommend these to your attention, as they are very high class. The 4½ inch Nappies are of the same grade but are made only in the two round shapes. These are made in Strawberry and Apple and Pear Designs. The Apple and Pear Pattern is not shown on the plate, but it is a beauty.

The other pieces are lighter in weight, more delicate and patterned after the expensive Import Goods of this character. The design is Scroll and Poppy, very graceful and artistic. You will be delighted with these goods as they are Holiday Trade Makers and you will duplicate your order more than once. These also are treated with pretty shadings of color on the leaves and flowers, and then the whole design is filled with a Matt Gold Effect. The edges of all the pieces are fired Bright Gold.

The assortment consists of:—

This is a photo of a page out of a Fall 1906 Northwood catalog. Possibly the only known Northwood catalog to be found. 1906 is four years after Harry Northwood's start of his factory in Wheeling West Virginia. It is at this factory that Harry would conclude his glass making career as he died in 1919 and the factory in Wheeling closed in 1925. Carnival Glass production did not start at Wheeling until about 1908, so this ad predates the production of carnival glass. The ad does describe the pieces as being "treated in color and gold effects." This would imply Goofus Glass.

Pictured at top center is a large 10 inch bowl in the Strawberry Intaglio pattern. The ad mentions the “Apple and Pear” pattern but notes that it is not pictured in the ad. Most of the items in the ad are the “Scroll and Poppy” pattern which is not found in carnival glass
